Foreword

The text of ISO/IEC Guide 2:2004 has been taken over as European Standard EN 45020:2006.

This European Standard shall be given the status of a national standard, either by publication of an identical text or by endorsement, at the latest by June 2007, and conflicting national standards shall be withdrawn at the latest by June 2007.

This European Standard supersedes EN 45020:1998 and does not include Clauses 12 to 17 of EN 45020:1998 superseded by EN ISO/IEC 17000:2004 'Conformity assessment-Vocabulary and general principles (ISO/IEC 17000:2004)'.

Attention is drawn to the possibility that some of the elements of this document may be the subject of patent rights. CEN and CENELEC shall not be held responsible for identifying any or all such patent rights.

The first edition of ISO Guide 2 was published by ISO in 1976. It was prepared by the United Nations Economic Commission for Europe (UN/ECE) in consultation with ISO, primarily to facilitate the work of the UN/ECE aimed at removal of barriers to international trade arising from lack of harmonization of standards or inadequate international application of standards.

The second, third and fourth editions of ISO Guide 2 added new terms and definitions in more or less isolated groups, within no overall planned framework. Work on a systematically structured revision was authorized by the ISO Council in 1981 as the principal task of a working group within the ISO Committee on standardization principles (ISO/STACO), including IEC and UN/ECE spokesmen and in cooperation with the ISO Committee on conformity assessment (ISO/CASCO) and the International Laboratory Accreditation Conference (ILAC).

The main reason for this activity was a request from UN/ECE for complete and urgent revision of ISO Guide 2 to take into account a number of specific problems raised by the UN/ECE Government Officials Responsible for Standardization Policies as well as the proposed terminology being prepared in the UN/ECE Working Party on Building. Moreover, ISO was publishing an increasing number of Guides on standardization policies and procedures, several of them in conjunction with IEC. To guard against terminological inconsistencies, a clear understanding of basic concepts needed to be established, and unambiguous general terms and definitions provided.

The resulting fifth edition of Guide 2 was issued, for the first time as a joint ISO/IEC publication, in 1986.

The sixth edition (1991) incorporated amendments in response to specific questions raised by ISO and IEC members, requests from the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT) and the UN/ECE, and proposals from ISO/CASCO.

The seventh edition (1996) preserved the structure of its recent predecessors by grouping related concepts under generic clause headings. Thus, Clauses 1 to 11 concerned standardization, proceeding from the more general to more specific aspects. Similarly, the terms and definitions given in the revised Clauses 12 to 17 covered the broad spectrum of conformity assessment. These latter clauses were modified on the recommendations of ISO/CASCO to reflect developments in conformity assessment activities, and were approved by the national bodies of ISO and IEC in 1994. They were not intended to provide a comprehensive classification but included, in particular, concepts related to the following typical sequence:

- a) determination of product, process or service characteristics (Clause 13);
- b) comparison of characteristics with specified requirements, i.e. conformity evaluation (Clause 14);
- c) assurance of conformity, e.g. by supplier's declaration or by certification (Clause 15).

This eighth edition (2004) is identical to the seventh edition except that the terms and definitions on conformity assessment (in Clauses 12 to 17 in the 7th edition) have been deleted and replaced by a normative reference to EN ISO/IEC 17000, Conformity assessment — Vocabulary and general principles (ISO/IEC 17000:2004).

According to the CEN/CENELEC Internal Regulations, the national standards organizations of the following countries are bound to implement this European Standard: Austria, Belgium, Cyprus, Czech Republic, Denmark, Estonia, Finland, France, Germany, Greece, Hungary, Iceland, Ireland, Italy, Latvia, Lithuania, Luxembourg, Malta, Netherlands, Norway, Poland, Portugal, Romania, Slovakia, Slovenia, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland and United Kingdom.
